

BUILDINGS TORN DOWN WHEN STORM STRIKES

Many Sections of Virginia Suffer Heavy Damage From Wind of Cyclonic Speed.

NO LOSS OF LIFE REPORTED

Several Have Narrow Escape When Houses Are Demolished and Other Buildings Laid Flat—Milford and Vicinity Hard Hit.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
PETERSBURG, VA., August 4.—A storm of great severity, accompanied by an unusually heavy rainfall and high wind, swept over this city and section on last evening, lasting for several hours. In the city no material damage was done, beyond the flooding of streets and cellars. From the counties, however, reports of damage more or less serious are coming in. At Stony Creek the Methodist Church was badly injured. The roof of the parsonage torn off, and several houses were wrecked. A cyclone, rapid in its course, passed through a portion of Dinwiddie, leveling trees and causing other destruction. At Poplar Grove National Cemetery it is said over 100 trees were prostrated by the wind. The dwelling, barn and stable on the farm of Joseph Blake, near the National Cemetery, were blown to pieces and the timbers scattered. This was probably the same cyclone that struck Stony Creek. As far as learned, no person was injured. Mr. Blake and family escaped unhurt and saved their stock.

On the City Point Road, about six miles from Petersburg, the bungalow occupied by Thomas Buren and family, who were entertaining several visitors, was blown to pieces. No one was hurt beyond a few bruises. Mr. Buren had to drive his family and friends to his father's home, several miles away, for shelter. Across the road from the Buren home the two-story frame dwelling of Mrs. R. W. Johnson was badly damaged. The probability is that reports of further damage in the counties will be received later in this city traffic was temporarily suspended. The poles and wires in the counties were considerably damaged.

SEVEREST STORM IN YEARS
SWEEPS CAROLINE COUNTY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BOWLING GREEN, VA., August 4.—The severest windstorm for a number of years passed over this county last night. It was accompanied by rain, which fell throughout the county and lasted for about eight hours. The worst damage was done at Milford in the evening, when a cyclone swept down and tore down the excelsior plant of W. N. Black, scattered the lumber on the Lewis Mill Lumber Company's yards, tore down and uprooted a large number of trees and especially the trees around the depot, and also did considerable damage to a number of dwellings and outbuildings. The telegraph and telephone wires were soon put out of commission. One large telegraph pole, which measured about twelve inches in diameter, was broken off about ten feet from the top, leaving one end in the ground and the other swinging to and fro, and a stick of about ten feet on the ground, cutting it into three pieces as complete as if it had been cut with an ax.

LIGHTNING PLAYS HAVOC IN RICHMOND COUNTY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
HARRISONBURG, VA., August 4.—A bolt of lightning killed three cows at one stroke near Dayton, Rockingham County, and plowed a hole in the ground three feet deep. The cattle belonged to J. L. Anger.

A mile distant another bolt of lightning killed two valuable horses for Henry Shope.

At Jones's barn at Tinkling Springs, Augusta County, a bolt of lightning destroyed with a loss of $3,000. Farming implements and the entire 1915 wheat crop, just harvested, were burned.

Six miles from Staunton Luther Cupps and George Eubank lost their barn, loss $1,100.

Near Bridgewater the wind uprooted a sugar tree and hurled it across the railroad track.

Since Sunday the storms have been of unusual violence and as the telephone service is being repaired stories of lightning's damage and pranks are being learned.

MILFORD IS DAMAGED
WHEN CYCLONE STRIKES

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
MILFORD, VA., August 4.—A cyclone struck the place, about a mile from the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad here and demolished things generally late yesterday. No lives were lost. The funnel-shaped cloud was observed approaching from a distance of two miles, traveling a course about 200 yards wide and moving in a north-westerly direction.

The fine shade trees at the station and those in private yards adjacent were overturned or broken into snags. The dwelling of Mrs. Gill and the Milford Hotel were damaged and a barn blown down on each place. W. N. Black & Co.'s excelsior mill was partly wrecked. Telegraph lines were prostrated and the railroad tracks blocked by the debris.

The cloud lifted after destroying things about here and is reported to have descended again near Woodlands and destroyed some forests near there.

The railroad and telegraph companies are clearing away the wreckage and restoring communication.

BUILDINGS DEMOLISHED
BY STORM AT STONY CREEK

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
STONY CREEK, VA., August 4.—About 6:15 o'clock yesterday evening a cyclone of unusual severity passed over this town, demolishing barns and tearing the roofs off many dwellings in the residential section. The Methodist Church, a very large and nearly new building, was practically ruined. The roof moved this morning at fifteen feet off its foundations and careened over and left it with the rear torn out and all the fixtures scattered around in a broken condition. The gin house of E. L. Lee and other buildings on the place were demolished. All chimneys in the path of the storm were blown down. At the homes of Mrs. J. D. Prince and D. M. House not a building was left standing but the dwelling houses. No one was injured.

SOUTH IN GOOD POSITION IF IT JUST ACTS WISELY

Conditions as to Cotton Crop Are Immensely Better Than One Year Ago.

ONLY CO-OPERATION NEEDED

W. P. G. Harding Reviews Situation, and Warns South to Do Nothing That Might Embarrass Wilson in His Foreign Policy.

WASHINGTON, August 4.—Conditions that confront the South in handling the 1915 cotton crop and conditions a year ago are contrasted in an analysis by W. P. G. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, in the current issue of the Federal Reserve Bulletin. The position of cotton to-day is much stronger and financial and other conditions are much better than a year ago. In Mr. Harding's opinion, and if the people of the South will not weaken their position "by unwise action," they have little to fear. "The cotton tragedy of 1914," says Mr. Harding, "will be succeeded in 1915 by nothing more serious than a drama."

SOUTH IS WARNED NOT TO EMBARRASS WILSON

Mr. Harding warns the South in its desire to see a boom market established for cotton to do nothing to embarrass President Wilson in his conduct of international affairs.

"It could be remembered," says Mr. Harding, "that the President owes a higher duty to the South, to the whole country and to mankind at this juncture than the establishment of cotton prices. Serious complications between this country and any great foreign power certainly would not enhance cotton values. The President may be trusted to do his duty as he sees it, regardless of private appeals or public clamor."

After comparing conditions affecting the market this year and last, Mr. Harding says:

"Under the most adverse conditions conceivable, with demoralization in every money market, with high interest rates, with emergency currency being issued daily in large volume, with enormous gold shipments abroad, with crippled shipping facilities, without adequate insurance protection and without the aid of the Federal Reserve, we began in August, 1914, to market a crop of nearly 17,000,000 bales of cotton. Financial institutions, already hard pressed and fearing all the high prices for cotton now prevailing in foreign countries—in Russia, about 30 cents a pound—will attract cotton to those countries in spite of apparently insurmountable obstacles, just as high prices paid for cotton abroad during the Civil War made blockade running a steady business."

WILL BE NO TROUBLE INSECURING FUNDS
"There seems to be no question that ample funds can be obtained to finance, in a normal way, a much larger volume of cotton than was taken care of last year, and that even if Germany and Austria-Hungary should be forced to suspend cotton manufacturing entirely, statistics show that the mills of the United States, Great Britain, Spain, Russia, Italy, Japan, China and India have spindles sufficient to absorb every bale of cotton that is likely to be cultivated."

"It should be noted that the reduction in American cotton acreage this year amounts to more than 5,000,000 acres, and that Egypt and India have also made radical reductions in cotton acreage. It is probable that the world's cotton crop, based on an average yield an acre, will be about 5,000,000 bales less than last year.

"Cotton, unlike grain, is a commodity, the market value of which depreciates in time of war, and the South, as a producer of that commodity, has suffered. The actual position of cotton, however, is so much stronger than was the case a year ago, and financial and other conditions are so very much more favorable, that there can be no doubt that if the South will keep cool and refrain from merely weakening its own position by unwise action, the present nervousness regarding the market for the growing crop will soon disappear."

"Even in the face of all the adverse conditions during the last twelve months the average price of cotton has been about what must have been expected for a 17,000,000-bale crop had there been no war, and there is every reason to believe that the average price of cotton during the next twelve months will be higher."

"The real question is: Will Southern merchants and Southern bankers, and all others interested in Southern trade, co-operate in securing for the cotton producers the benefit of this average price, and will the cotton producers themselves do their part?"

"My knowledge of Southern character and Southern business conditions, justifies a confident belief that an affirmative answer will be given."

George Fox was fined the usual $100 and costs in the Police Court yesterday when convicted of carrying a concealed pistol on his person. Police-men Krohn and Edleton arrested the man on a charge of being disorderly on the street several days ago.

NO TIME FOR MOSSBACKS AND OBSTRUCTIONISTS

Moment Has Come for South and Country Generally to Awake to Commercial Opportunities.

MERCHANT MARINE FIRST STEP

Secretary McAdoo Tells Greensboro Chamber of Commerce That Ships We Must Have if United States Is to Take Rightful Place in Trade.

GREENSBORO, N. C., August 4.—

Secretary McAdoo in a letter given out to-night at the banquet of the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce, in his absence, declared that if American cotton manufacturers were prepared now to turn out the kind of cotton goods the people of Central and South America want, "we could undoubtedly take and keep the vast amount of trade in cotton goods our foreign competitors have been obliged to abandon."

The secretary urged the importance of a shipping bill similar to the one which failed of passage at the last session of Congress.

INDISPENSABLE STEP IS MERCHANT MARINE

"If you want South American trade; if you want world trade," the letter read, "the indispensable step is an American merchant marine to carry our commerce to the ends of the earth under the protection of the Stars and Stripes."

Mr. McAdoo said a leading Southern cotton manufacturer told him that if he risked his capital in producing the kind of goods the South American market required and in introducing them, he would find himself driven out of that market after the war, because foreign ship owners could increase freight rates overnight to discriminate against American trade. This manufacturer declared, said the secretary, that if reliable steamship service were established, under the American flag and backed by the United States government, Southern manufacturers would increase their plants, manufacture the goods required, and go after the South American trade.

"This is, undoubtedly, a reasonable and sound position for the cotton manufacturer to take," the letter continued. "He cannot be expected to make a perilous investment, nor can he command the necessary capital to enlarge his business for South American trade unless he can have assurance of reliable ocean transportation at reasonable rates."

SHIPS ARE DEMANDED FOR EUROPEAN COMMERCE

Mr. McAdoo said ships under the American flag also were imperatively demanded for the protection of our European commerce. "I firmly believe," he wrote, "that, if we had an ample supply of American ships to carry our cotton to Europe at the rates of freight which prevailed prior to the European war, it would mean an increase of 1 to 2 cents per pound over what it will be possible to get for raw cotton under present conditions."

"Let the South awake to her opportunity," said the letter in conclusion. "Let her and the rest of the country demand that the commerce of our country and the safety of our country be quickly assured by the creation of an American merchant marine, backed by a government administered in the interest of all of the people and against all interests of the obstructionists."

"This is a time for action. Already we have had too much talk. To prove the latter assertion, I have only to refer you to the speeches of the Republican filibusters in the last session of the United States Senate."

CONDEMN ENACTMENT OF CLASS LEGISLATION

Democrats of Albemarle Meet and Protest Against Various Acts of Last Assembly.

GO AFTER "BANKERS' LOBBY"

Would Repeal Law Segregating Rolling Stock of Steam Roads to State and Re-Enact "Nelson Bill"—Uphold Rights of Localities.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

CHAMBERSBURG, VA., August 4.—The Democrats of Albemarle County, in a lively meeting held at the court house, adopted a strong set of resolutions, condemning the alleged class legislation enacted by the General Assembly at its last session. Goes after the "bankers' lobby," makes vigorous protest against segregation tax laws, wants the Boards of Supervisors from all the localities of the State to meet to decide what must be done to care of the interests of the localities next winter, attacks the State Auditor as representing centralized government, recommends election of an advisory board by the people and urges real estate owners to get together. Local candidates for the General Assembly were instructed to vote for and use all of their powers to have repealed the following acts of the Assembly:

The law limiting the tax on bank deposits, bearing interest on time certificates, to 20 cents on the $100. But the nominal rate of 20 cents on deposits to current accounts is not objectionable, being non-interest bearing, and the money being used in connection with the citizens' business.

The law allowing the banks to effect their assessments of stock by municipal bonds held by them.

Abolish the law pensioning Supreme Court Judges.

Amend the law and abolish the State tax of 10 cents on the $100 on real and personal property, all of the said classes of property to be assigned to the localities.

Repeal the law segregating rolling stock of steam roads to the State, and re-enact the law known as the "Nelson bill," passed at the regular session in 1914, distributing the rolling stock among the different localities through which the railroads run, upon the fair and equitable basis provided in said law of 1914.

The resolutions call upon Governor Stuart "to favor all localities, taking care of the localities, and placing only the right and just proportion of the burden of taxation upon the visible property of the State. The burden of taxation on real estate is already onerous and out of proportion to the net productive value of the owner."

Charged With Non-Support.

James B. Henry, of South Richmond, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Police-man Manning on a charge of failing to support his wife and child. He will be tried before Justice Maurice this morning.
